

Background presentation

- The background: The Albert-Schweitzer- / Geschwister-Scholl-Gymnasium in Marl set up the following guiding principles: tolerance, humanity, respect for human beings and environment, love of freedom and intellectual courage.
- The European dimension: The remarkable etwinning project "European multicultural society and citizenship" motivated young people from five countries to communicate and work not only at school but also during their leisure time and their holidays.
- The main question: What does it mean to be a European in the EU and a citizen of a multicultural society? The students used the full potential of the Twinspace to produce photos, films and texts and to discuss topics like religion, culture and education on a very high level.
- The teacher's part: The professional planning as well as the competence to teach the students responsibility and self-initiated learning led to a dynamic process with even more and better results than expected.
- 1st price 2011: Congratulations to the teacher, who initiated, managed and supported this brilliant project, Mrs Beate Vollmer.
