

Article What've I learned

I think I've learned a lot about the other cultures and their behavior.

It was so great to meet new people from France, Poland, Spain and also Italy.

We talked a lot about our families and friends and also about ourselves and our religion, so we know now a lot about each other.

In Spain the most people have a strong belief in God and it's a land full of tolerance and most of them are Catholics.

In Poland they are also really religious and the most people (90%) are Catholics, too.

But also Muslims who live in Poland can practise their religion normally.

The French ones are really open to everything and they have also a strong belief in God, but they don't think it's really bad if you don't go to a church every Sunday, they have big churches and also Cathedrals and Mosques, they are open to every religion and that's really good!

In Italy there are mostly Catholics, but also a little bit of other religions. They are nice to every religion and respect everyone, like the others do it, too.

They all think it's okay if you belong to the Islam or something like that.

At the Comenius Projectt I've met a lot of kind people and we also have contact now, via Whats App, Facebook, Snapchat and Instagram, it's really great and I'm happy to have done an exchange like that, for me it was so great and I would do it again any time! I've learned a lot about other religions and how people are from other countries.

I know new people now and it's a great feeling I think.

However they look like, whatever they believe in or other things, I like them all.

It was a great time!

Eileen
